

The Stories and The Songs

We're lost deep in the woods, so far from our beds
There is a road already run
There's a heart cut in a tree, let's follow the thread
You'll be home when day is done

The green canopy hides the questioning sky
A golden light glows above the town
Form a bed of dead leaves on which we can lie
You'll be safe when night comes down

It's OK, should anything go wrong
The stories and the songs will guide us
So let's say time can carry on
The stories and the songs will guide us
Through it all
Through it all
Through it all

These feelings that we feel are over our heads
They can't tell if you've just been kissed
Those things we said today aren't easily said
You'll be home before you're missed

It's OK, should anything go wrong
The stories and the songs will guide us
So let's say time can carry on
The stories and the songs will guide us
Through it all
Through it all
Through it all
